

Give us time!

Canadians need:

- 1) A Royal Commission on assisted suicide
- 2) The Notwithstanding Clause invoked

On Feb. 6, 2015, the Supreme Court of Canada struck down Canada's assisted suicide law, giving Parliament one year to replace it.

I urge the Federal Government to:

- 1) hold a Royal Commission on assisted suicide, and
- 2) invoke the Notwithstanding Clause to give Parliament more than one year.

Give us time to draft effective legislation!
